Elyse & Elyse

It was just the other day we received the first tea of the season. It was a nice green tea from the Szechwan Province in southern China. The green tips looked so lovely but we decided to hold out for better teas later. There are only so many Chinese green tea that one can have. However, it was a wonderful reminder that the new season has started. It is still cold in most of China and Japan. Darjeeling has warm days but chilly nights, so tea is growing very slowly. However in a few weeks, all that changes.

Soon it will be warm enough for the tender buds to grow. Everything that the tea plants stored last Fall: sugars, antioxidants, and amino acids, will start to travel up from the roots. It is everything necessary to make the new leaves that are essential for the plant's future. As tea lovers, we may find that nice, but what we really like is the results in a warm cup. We love the natural sweetness that comes from those sugars offset by the briskness that comes from anti-oxidants. When young leaves are loaded with amino acids, our mouth feels delightfully full (there is a bit of sweetness from amino acids also). It is hard to ask more from a cup of tea.

As a mother, I understand about hoping for a better future. So let us sing praises to this new season. Let us hope that the weather is perfect!

Mike's Tea Ratings

Mike rates many of our teas on three attributes. A rating of 0 indicates the tea has none of that particular characteristic and a rating of 5 indicates that it is a primary characteristic.

Briskness refers to a tea's ability to make your mouth pucker, also known as astringency. Some astringency makes tea brisk and desirable (like white wine). Too much briskness can be a problem, but may be controlled by reducing the brewing time.

Body refers to whether or not a tea feels thick in the mouth, such as Assam, or light such as a white tea. Sometimes this body comes from dissolved solids from the leaves like the Assam, and sometimes it is from all the amino acids, like Ichiban Sencha.

Aroma refers to whether or not the tea has a pleasant smell, often the most prized part of tea. That makes sense, since humans can smell much better than we can taste. Sometimes the pleasant smell is teased out of the tea leaf by a skilled tea maker, sometimes it is flavor blended by our blenders.

Black Teas

CHINESE

These are the teas we are most familiar with, the ones we drank in our youth. We offer a wide selection of premium teas from China and various other countries that make British Legacy Teas. There are many black tea blends to choose from, some flavored and some not. Milk or sugar? That is your choice.

Bohea

A lovely black tea from the Wuyi Mountains, where black teas was developed. Although this is from the Lapsang area, there is little smoky note, rather the dark fruity notes prevail.

44587...loose 2 oz tin...$45.00

English Breakfast

The same black tea the English drank regularly in the 1800s. China Black—100% Keemun.

48000...loose 8 oz tin...$12.00

41625...loose 1 lb bag...$19.50

30010...20 tea bag box...$6.00

10116...50 tea bag box...$11.00

50501...50 sachet bag...$19.50

35550...20 wrapped sachet...$9.60

Golden Monkey

This is a recently developed tea from the northern part of the Fujian Province. The tea plants have big buds, which are often used in white tea. The tea and buds are slowly oxidized, with the result being a golden brew that yields honey-like flavors.

41778...loose 1 lb bag...$96.00

Hao Ya 'A'

This is the most intense Keemun, loaded with toasted cocoa flavors. Keemuns are considered some of the best black teas in China.

44230...loose 4 oz tin...$20.00

41640...loose 1 lb bag...$72.00

Hao Ya 'B'

This Keemun is made in late spring and is a great value. It is less intense than Hao Ya 'A', but still stronger than English Breakfast. It has warm toasty notes with hints of chocolate.

44231...loose 4 oz tin...$12.00

41641...loose 1 lb bag...$42.00

Hong Tao

On Mike's first trip to China in 1996, he visited the charming village of Hong Tao (Red Peach) in the hills outside of Keemun in Anhui Province, China. It was a great day, in a charming little village, where they made lovely tea. Besides the sentimental value to Mike, this Keemun tea is a great value with lovely cocoa notes.

Hunan Golden Twist

This became a popular tea last year. This year, the tea is a bit darker and the honey notes are slightly muted, but it is still a very nice tea. There is a fullness, or, "body" and dark honey flavors in the cup that will be a delight.

Lapsang Souchong

An ancient and much loved tea from China. Large leaves are dried over smoldering pine fires. As you might imagine, the tea develops a distinctive smoky flavor.

Panyang Golden Tips

This is a special tea from the northern Fujian Province. The big leaves are rolled in a nice twist and are loaded with golden swirls. As an early season tea, it has a nice sweet flavor reminiscent of cooked honey.

Briskness- 1 Body- 3 Aroma- 3

44510...loose 2 oz tin...$50.00

Pu-erh

A loose "cooked" Pu-erh that has traditional earthy flavors. See our website for Pu-erh special offerings.

Briskness- 2 Body- 3 Aroma- 4

44266...loose 4 oz tin...$7.00

41671...loose 1 lb bag...$22.00

Tippy Yunnan

Big black leaves with a touch of gold from the birthplace of tea. The medium-bodied brew has a good balance of sweet and earthy notes with none of the smokiness that overpowers other Yunnans.

Briskness- 1 Body- 3 Aroma- 2

44283...loose 4 oz tin...$7.00

41689...loose 1 lb bag...$22.00

Top Chingwo Congou

This is a stellar black tea from northern Fujian Province. Chingwo is a neighboring town of Panyang, and makes a similar tea. This one has a great body and a lovely, slightly fruity flavor.

Briskness- 1 Body- 4 Aroma- 3

44478...loose 4 oz tin...$49.00

Yunnan Golden Tips

This is a tea that is a mixture of the dull gold buds and black leaves from Yunnan Province. The aroma is a sweet earthy combination typical of many Yunnans.

Briskness- 2 Body- 2 Aroma- 3

44520...loose 2 oz tin...$18.00

Black Tea Sampler

We offer many fine teas, but which one will you like? Here's a sampler set with a selection of four black teas. Please note: The teas in the sampler set are subject to change, based on availability.

72230...Black Tea Sampler...$20.00

1 oz Satishpur Chunky

1 oz Gielle

1 oz Uva Highlands

ASSAM

Assam is India's largest producer of tea, and the broad flood plains make for some of the most fertile tea estates in the world. In the 1820s, Assam was a jungle, and it was there that the Bruce brothers found a different type of tea plant. This variety of tea brews a brisk drink that works well with milk and sugar.

Assam Golden Tips

We order up this tea from the best garden in Assam: Dikom. It is difficult and expensive to make a tea that has golden buds, but it is worth the effort. It is truly a joy to behold and we enjoy its light body and whiffs of honey.

Briskness- 2 Body- 2 Aroma- 2

44204...loose 3 oz tin...$30.00

41606...loose 1 lb bag...$144.00

CTC Assam

Tea as the Indians drink it. Striking amber color, rich flavor and full bodied as well; it is a key ingredient in several of our blends, including the East Frisian and Indian Spice. It takes milk and sugar and can also be enjoyed solo. An "espresso-style" tea!

Irish Breakfast

100% Assam, like most traditional Irish blends, this is a good way to start your morning. Like cereal, it takes milk and sugar well. In contrast to other vendors, ours is a little more refined.

CEYLON

Ceylon teas offer a variety of black tea flavors. Ceylon teas can brew up light and bright like Lover's Leap or substantial like Kenilworth Garden. Ceylons make perfect afternoon teas and can handle milk and sugar, if that is your preference.

Ceylon Vintage Silver Tips

A white tea from Ceylon, made from the terminal buds of tea bushes grown at high altitudes. This is a rare brew with a light, sweet, sublime flavor, plucked and made just for us.

Briskness- 1 Body- 2 Aroma- 2

44207...loose 2 oz tin...$30.00

Kenilworth Garden

From the famous Kenilworth Garden in the Dimbula region. Large leaves and full oxidation yield a great tea. It has an especially smooth liquor.

Briskness- 1 Body- 2 Aroma- 3

44000...loose 4 oz tin...$10.25

41648...loose 1 lb bag...$33.00

Lover's Leap

Made at one of the prettiest gardens in the world. High in central Sri Lanka in the old tea town of Nuwara Eliya. Here the teas are light, with hints of lemon.

Briskness- 3 Body - 2 Aroma- 3

44479...loose 4 oz tin...$6.25

New Vithanakande

One of our favorite teas; we love the look of the black leaf with a silver streak running through it. The taste is very "round" and satisfying. A great tea for afternoon enjoyment.

Briskness- 2 Body- 3 Aroma- 2

44015...loose 4 oz tin...$15.00

41695...loose 1 lb bag...$50.00

Uva Highlands

This is a lovely high grown Ceylon Pekoe from Uva. It has small leaves that produce an intense tea. It is bright and brisk, with a hint of minty spice. It is guaranteed to pick you up on a dull afternoon. Terrific with milk and sugar.

DARJEELING

High in the Himalayas, Darjeeling has been called the "Queen of Teas." And we agree. The light and brisk first flush teas focus your attention, while the darker teas of the later seasons are more mellow and have wonderful flavors.

Darjeeling Blend FTGFOP

Our Darjeeling is a blend of first flush and autumnal teas from the best gardens. This mixture yields a light color in the cup—a fragrant "nose".

Briskness- 2 Body- 2 Aroma- 3

44004...loose 4 oz tin...$7.25

50502...50 sachet bag...$19.00

Gielle 1st Flush 2012

Gielle is located on the eastern side of Darjeeling, near Teesta Valley and Namring. This tea is made a bit later than the prime time and therefore is less intense.

Briskness- 3 Body- 2 Aroma- 2

44291...loose 3 oz tin...$11.00

44292...loose 1 lb bag...$52.00

Jungpana 2nd Flush 2012

This tea is a great mix of good body and fruity muscatel flavors.

44581...loose 3 oz tin...$17.50

41988...loose 1 lb bag...$88.00

Risheehat 1st Flush 2012

A solid first flush that has the typical body and lovely nose. Mike has a fondness for their consistently great teas.

Briskness- 3 Body- 2 Aroma- 3

44312...loose 3 oz tin...$17.00

41627...loose 1 lb bag...$80.00

Sungma Autumnal 2012

Made by one of the best estates in Darjeeling. Although it is lighter, it does have nice muscatel (fruity) notes.

44588...loose 3 oz tin...$8.00

Temi Sikkim

Sikkim is located just north of Darjeeling in India. This is a mid-year tea, so it makes for a dark brew. It is light in body with honey notes.

Briskness- 3 Body- 2 Aroma- 3

44280...loose 3 oz tin...$8.00

41686...loose 1 lb bag...$39.00

Thurbo 2nd Flush 2012

This tea was made from "clonal" tea bushes, so it is lighter than other second flush teas. Still the fruity notes make this a very attractive tea.

This is Tea

Sachets versus Tea Bags

Our sachets combine the quality of loose tea with the convenience of a tea bag. They contain full-leaf tea and are designed to brew 12 oz. of tea each. Tea bags contain broken-leaf tea, still sourced from the finest gardens in the world, and are designed to brew 8 oz. of tea each.

Fruits d'Alsace

Black Teas

AFRICAN

Although Africa has only been an important tea producer since the 1950s it now supplies most of the teas for the UK and Ireland. The teas are brisk, similar to the strong teas of Assam in India.

Kaimosi CTC

Located between Lake Victoria and the Great Rift Valley in Kenya, the Kaimosi Estate is known for a tradition of great tea. The tea brews dark red like the CTCs of Assam, but since it's given three times as much time to oxidize, it has less of a bite to it.

Kangaita OP

It's rare in Africa to find an orthodox (full leaf) tea, so of course we jumped on this as soon as we tasted it. Full bodied like some of our Ceylons, it has an additional sweetness to it.

Oolong Teas

OOLONG

Oolong tea is between green and black tea. Through repeated and complicated steps the tea leaves are partially oxidized; whereas green tea is not oxidized at all and black tea is fully oxidized. Light in the cup with haunting aromas, Oolong teas will richly reward those that explore them.

Ali San Oolong

One of the first of the high mountain teas, from the Ali San area in the southern mountains of Taiwan. About 20 years ago Taiwan's tea industry went through a radical change; they stopped producing the old teas that were exported to Westerners, and these better oolongs were made for the newly prosperous domestic market. Now we all can appreciate the lovely lemony and creamy flavors of this lightly oxidized oolong.

44201...loose 2 oz tin...$25.00

41603...loose 1 lb bag...$180.00

Dong Ding Light

One of the original oolongs made in the mountains in the middle of Taiwan. There are two schools of production and this year we are offering both. This one, which we have offered over the years, is lightly roasted with nice lemon and vegetal flavors.

Briskness- 1 Body- 2 Aroma- 3

44527...loose 2 oz tin...$20.00

41925...loose 1 lb bag...$144.00

Fanciest Formosa Oolong

This is another great oolong. The plant protects itself from attack by creating a compound that has a great peachy aroma, maybe better than any other oolong. It is absolutely delicious.

Fenghuang Shuixian

Mike visited the artisans high above the city of Fenghuang and saw how they transform the big leaves in twists of brown with hints of russet. The tea created has an intense peach flavor and a touch of spice.

Jasmine Teas

JASMINE

Flavoring teas with jasmine flowers is an ancient Chinese tradition. Fresh jasmine flowers are added to produce a delicate and fragrant brew.

Dragon Pearl Jasmine

A masterpiece from Fuan, China. Beautiful little hand-rolled pearls are gently infused with the floral essences from jasmine flowers. The light-colored brew is full of floral and sweet aromas. Always a delight!

CHINESE

This is where it (tea) all started! So the traditions of tea are the deepest and the choice of delicious teas are the most diverse.

Anji Baicha

Another fabulous tea from northern Zhejiang Province. This is a green tea loaded with asparagus and citrus flavors. “Baicha” refers to the special cultivar (tea plant) used to make this tea. There is less green chlorophyll in the immature leaves.

Briskness- 2 Body - 2 Aroma- 3

44476...loose 2 oz tin...$40.00

Chun Mee

A traditional green tea from China. It has a lightly roasted vegetal taste.

Hunan Mao Jian ORGANIC

While in China, we were on the lookout for a moderately priced green tea, one that does not have the roasted aromas of Gunpowder or Chun Mee. While at an organic tea garden in Hunan, we found one. This tea is made a bit later in the season from the best green teas.

Briskness- 1 Body - 1 Aroma- 1

44507...loose 2 oz tin...$6.00

Lung Ching

This is one of China’s famous green teas. It is made around Hangzhou City early in the spring. The small, green leaves make for a brew that has a mild and sweet, almost nut-like flavor.

Luan Guapian

Our friend VeeVee in the Anhui Province of China supplied us with this green tea.

Luan Guapian is considered by the Chinese as one of the top 10 teas, so it should definitely be on your bucket list! They find it to be a fulfilling tea with mellow vegetal flavors.

Meijiawu Lung Ching

This is a very elegant Lung Ching that is from one of the original growing areas—Meijiawu. This village is located on the other side from the famous Xihu lake in Hangzhou, Zhejiang Province. The “classical” growing areas are known to produce the best Lung Chings, thus some of the best green teas in the world. The brew is light and clean with a nutty flavor and a good body.

Briskness- 1 Body - 2 Aroma- 3

44551...loose 2 oz tin...$39.00

Weishan MaoFeng ORGANIC

During our most recent trip to China, we made it to the Weishan area. In the back of the Buddhist temple is an organic garden where we discovered a great Spring tea. This tea is light in the cup, with the right amount of roast flavors.

JAPANESE

The Japanese have been drinking green teas for many centuries. As tea was popularized in 1800s, many different teas developed. We offer a wide selection of these teas, some rarely seen outside of Japan.

Bancha

Bancha is a great value for Japanese teas. It has a nice vegetal flavor and no smokiness.

Green Teas

Blueberry Patch

Our HRP Blueberry Green tea (30 ct.) inspired this gift. Whip up some vanilla scones from Iveta (8.3 oz.) topped with Blueberry Spoon Fruit (9 oz.) from American Spoon Foods, a handy wood jelly spoon (The French Farm) included for serving. Or enjoy a sweet treat of dark chocolate covered blueberries and almonds (3.5 oz.) from Cape Cod Provisions along with your cup! (We suggest adding fresh blueberries to the scone mix for even more blueberry flavor!) Gift boxed with bows.

This is Tea

All tea comes from the same species: Camellia sinensis, however there is a remarkable amount of biodiversity among the cultivars. Combined with the different traditions in tea production, there are numerous teas to explore and enjoy.

White Teas

WHITE TEA

White tea is made from the young tea bud. It is plucked just before the leaf opens on the stem and is air-dried to lock in its color and flavor. The chlorophyll is not mature in this bud, and that gives it its "white" appearance.

Ceylon Vintage Silver Tips

Made from the terminal buds of the tea bushes grown high in Ceylon. A rare white tea with a light, sweet, sublime flavor, plucked and made just for us. They are handled carefully so the bud remains whole and will become silvery. Since there is no leaf, there is no traditional tea flavor.

Briskness- 1 Body- 2 Aroma- 2

44207...loose 2 oz tin...$30.00

Chinese Mutan White

An excellent introduction to rare white tea. This less expensive white tea has an abundance of silvery white buds and green leaves.

Brewing Basics

Type of Tea	Water Temp	Steep Time
White Teas.....	175°F.....	2-3 Minutes
Japanese Green Teas.....	160°F.....	1-2 Minutes
Chinese Green Teas.....	175°F.....	2-3 Minutes
Oolongs.....	205°F.....	4-5 Minutes
First Flush Darjeelings.....	195°F.....	4-5 Minutes
Black Teas.....	212°F.....	4-5 Minutes
Herbals.....	212°F.....	5 Minutes

Each type of tea has its own unique steep time and required water temperature. Here you'll find all of the information regarding the brewing of our teas.

Things To Remember

A good pot of tea cannot be made from bad tea. You need to have great tea!

Water should be fresh, pure, and filtered. Hard water, water with high sulphur content or chlorinated water will affect the taste of the tea.

Storage & Handling

Our teas should be stored in sealed containers away from light.

Keep coffee separate. Tea will pick up flavors and odors from the foods around it.

Like all other food products it is important to properly rotate your teas. Tea can become stale and flavors dull.

Master Blender

I remember that cold New York City day in February 1953 standing outside of St. Patrick's Cathedral, the wind cutting through us. Elyse and I were waiting our turn, as we were getting married, and it was so cold. Back then; people got married at a young age. And we were no exception. I was a veteran going to college at Cornell University, starting a family. (Our firstborn was a son followed by more sons, and a daughter.) We were trying to scrape together rent and hoping for a bright future. We had no idea what awaited us.

Together, Elyse and I raised a family and worked in inns. It was in Salisbury about 10 years later that we both met Stanley Mason. Stanley was so influential. He taught us the British traditions of tea. First, we served his tea at the White Hart Inn. And Elyse sold his tins in our store. Later we bought the company from him and learned some of the intricacies of the tea trade.

In 1983, Elyse and I left the White Hart Inn and again went blindly into the future, just trusting that the sun would shine. I went on my own to form Harney & Sons; she started Elyse Harney Real Estate. Honestly, in the beginning, she was a bit more successful than I. So when I needed a bit of cash for the growing tea business, my bride assisted. We ran both businesses out of our old house. I started to rope in my sons to assist me and Elyse got our daughter to help her. And the future did become better.

Now 60 years have gone by. My bride and I have shared a life of work, faith, and family. I am sure the future will be even brighter for all of us. Good luck to all!

- John Harney

Stanley's Blend

"Before learning from Stanley Mason, tea was just a nice drink. He showed me how to make great teas and also taught me the traditions of tea. What he gave to me, I passed on down to my sons. Please enjoy this simple blend of Assam and Darjeeling." - John Harney

The Ultimate Tea Lover's Treasury

"Thirty years ago it felt like being knighted for M.F.K. Fisher to praise my writing in her introduction to The Tea Lover's Treasury.

Because I know vastly more than before about a vastly greater array of teas, it is more useful and interesting. I return to the subject like a simple, healthful habit I enjoy and enjoy sharing the language and lore of an age-old global trade that links tea producers, dealers and consumers in a single world-wide community. And because I do not hope to return again to this subject, my hope is you will make The Ultimate Tea Lover's Treasury your starting point and carry on."

East Frisian (Bernd's Blend)

Cold, wet, and dreary, Germany's North Sea coast (East Frisia) is the ideal spot to drink hot tea. Given to us by one of the leading suppliers of tea to finicky East Frisia, Bernd. We dedicate this tea to his memory. A blend of hearty Assam that is lightened by Darjeeling and Ceylon, try it layered with cream and crystallized sugar.

RMS Titanic Tea Blend

John created a tea blend based upon teas that might have been served on the Titanic. Chinese Keemun, one of the last Chinese teas the British still consumed in 1912. The British had mostly switched to black teas from Assam, India, and Ceylon. Also there is Formosa Oolong, which was popularized in both the UK and the US by an enterprising Brit. A portion of the sales of this tea will go to Ocean Conservancy.

Russian Country Blend

A blend of four teas along with an additional touch of Lapsang, this is a softer version of Smoky Lapsang Souchong. This tea is reminiscent of the teas that were carried by camel across the Asian deserts to Russia. As Norwood Pratt quips: “the only choice was one hump or two.”

SCOTTISH TEAS

We Harneys are of Irish descent, so we were a bit reticent to concoct Scottish teas. However, when our friends at the American-Scottish Foundation (ASF) suggested to create two teas, we agreed. The most important quality was to make strong teas. So we blended strong black teas from India and Ceylon. Our friends at the ASF said it was a nice start, but “make ‘em a wee stronger”.

Glass Teapots

These elegant glass teapots are the perfect pairing for our Art Teas. Many people prefer to brew all their teas in a glass pot, so that the subtle differences in each brew can be seen and savored. The perfect match to your glass teapot is a Glass Warmer. The small candle provides just the right amount of heat, keeping the brewed tea at just the right temperature without overdoing it. The warmer should be used only with the glass teapots. Any of the teapots shown above will fit on this warmer. Includes glass bowl, metal trivet, and one tea light.

1% For the Planet

Harney & Sons Tea Company sells fine teas at a price that makes tea an everyday luxury. The process of shipping tea from the world's tea gardens to Harney & Sons' production facility for blending, bagging and packing, then on to the world's teacups, impacts our increasingly fragile environment.

Joining 1% FTP meant we could directly donate one percent of our total sales to the environmental organizations of our choice. Visit www.onepercentfortheplanet.org for more information. As of this year Harney & Sons (with your help) will have donated over half a million dollars to 1% for the Planet. Through 1% for the Planet, we support the following non-profits:
